HOT MESS BURGERS

The food arrived in neat, branded cardboard boxes, As they were not completely sealed the burgers and accompanying wedges were spared a nice proper full steaming session.

Inside the box you do get the surprise of wedges and find the burger semi wrapped in waxy type paper.

Upon unwrapping the paper you find their interpretation of a 'mess'

I was delightfully surprised by how little sauce was dripping and oozing out of it.

Under the hood there isn't much to see cheese melted onto the patty and just sauce. No interesting pickles or onions to inspect here.

At this point there's not much else to do apart from feast. Sadly the over done patty wasn't saved by the melange of soggy filth that was slowly being mulched away into some sort of sick burger slime on the first part of it's adventurous journey to the toilet bowl of my study here in Dubai. ↓

In Conclusion... if you feel like suffering with a dry AND soggy pile of meat, cheese, lettuce and some filthy wannabe Marc sauce I cannot recommend HOT MESS enough!
